

The Death and Life of American Journalism

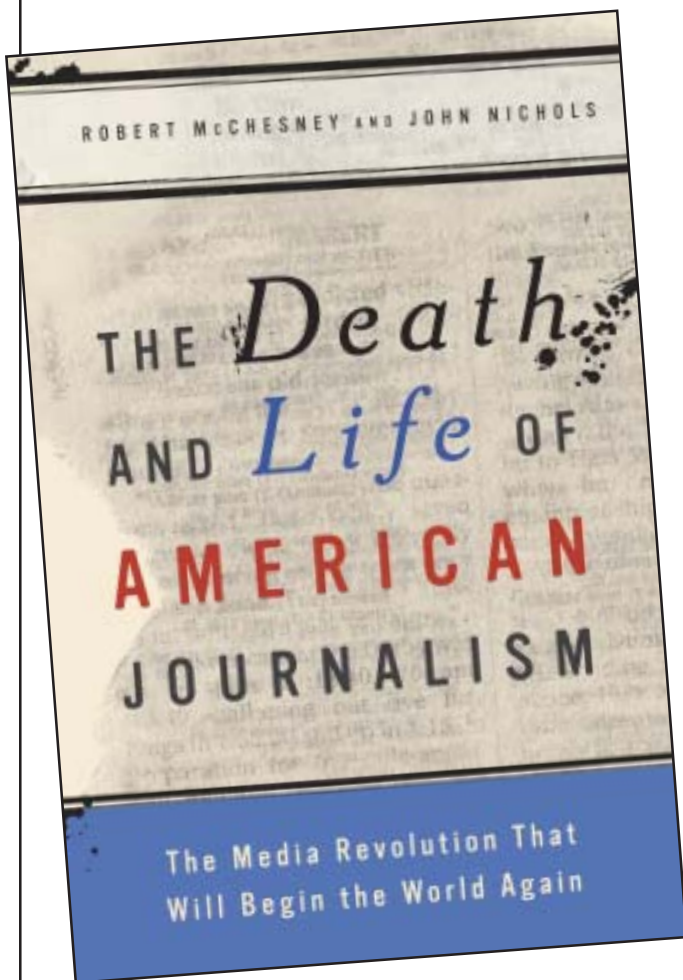

A dialogue with authors

Robert McChesney and John Nichols

Friday, March 26 at 2:00 p.m.

Sundin Music Hall, Hamline University

“This is an important book. It offers many new sunbursts of thought—some controversial but all adding to the dialogue about America and its free press crisis.”—Dan Rather

“The field of journalism is in such profound crisis that it cannot even summon the energy to make a case for its own existence. Nichols and McChesney make that case with great persuasiveness and clarity; indeed no two people are more dedicated to the transformative, democratizing power of journalism not as it is, but as it should be.”—Naomi Klein

“The stakes are huge, the time is now, read this book!”—Phil Donahue

Sponsored by Hamline’s Political Science Department. This event is free of charge and open to the public. For more information, please call 651-523-2260.